Background:

Vegetable Glycerin (Glycerine) is heralded for its wide range of applications within personal care. Scientifically, glycerin is a sugar alcohol and is traditionally referred to as glycerol. Glycerin can be produced from vegetable or animal sources.

Our Vegetable Glycerin is ethically and sustainably produced from non-GMO palm oil/palm kernel oil. It is a superior, vegan pharmaceutical quality glycerin that meets USP standards. It is manufactured according to rigid standards and is carefully produced, packaged and stored to maintain the purity, freshness, humectant and other beneficial properties of this versatile product.

Uses:

As an emollient, lubricant and humectant, Praan Naturals Vegetable Glycerin is well suited for a wide range of moisturization applications that include skin, hair, nail and lip care. It helps support normal skin elasticity and is well suited for inclusion in formulations intended for mature skin. It is non-irritating, soothing and is heralded for its ability to moisturize dry and cracked skin. Vegetable Glycerin is noncomedogenic and is also ideally suited for inclusion in formulations intended for oily and acne-prone skin. It is a remarkable humectant for use in hair care products intended to restore health to dry, brittle and lifeless hair. Vegetable Glycerin is a natural, alcohol-free solvent that can be used in the preparation of botanical extracts.
