Amazonian Lipids

The Amazonian rainforests are lush with nutrient-rich, life sustaining botanicals. Our selection of cold pressed rainforest oils and our nourishing Amazonian butters provide essential nutrients for moisturizing and revitalizing the skin and hair. Acting at the cellular level, these lipids help regulate the activity, moisture content and regeneration of skin cells. With growing emphasis on treating both the inside and outside of the body, our range of Amazonian lipids have excellent potential within innovative personal care products designed to promote healthy skin and hair.
