Berry Seed Oils

Berry oils are gaining increasing attention by cosmeceutical manufacturers and the spa and aromatherapy industries because they are highly nutritive and are rich in essential fatty acids and antioxidants. Berry oils, most notably Red Raspberry and Cranberry Seed oils, are exceptionally stable and possess a significantly longer shelf life than most other oils high in essential fatty acid composition.

Natural Sourcing offers a selection of eight nutrient rich berry oils highly sought after for use in innovative personal care products. They are recommended for inclusion in body and facial creams, eye creams, lip products, hair care products and sun care formulations where emollience, conditioning and high EFA content are desired. We also offer Kiwi Seed Oil.

Our superior quality berry oils are carefully produced and packaged to maintain the purity, freshness and beneficial properties of these highly nutritive oils.
